NOAA is Looking to Hire a Magician to Develop Leadership Skills

(May 3, 2012) NOAA is putting its faith in magic. The organization released a Request for Quotation on May 1 for a magician to work at their June 12- 14 leadership training conference. There's no magic behind the numbers, but some are wondering if this is how NOAA makes their money disappear.

Today's article in Government Executive highlights this most recent act of wasteful spending. <http://www.govexec.com/management/2012/05/noaa-seeks-magician-training-conference/55565/>
